

McGILL SENIORS FACE OLD BOYS TO-DAY

Annual Freshman-Sophomore Track Meet in Stadium This Morning

UNIVERSITY IS DEVELOPER OF TRUE CITIZENS

Pays Tribute to "Cy" Morris

SIR ARTHUR CURRIE

Sixth Pep Rally Sir Arthur Has Attended

Honesty, assiduity and above all, hope, were the three qualities stressed by Sir Arthur Currie as being the most important in a young man's character. In his speech delivered before the massing of McGill students assembled at last night's Pep Rally, The University was doing its best to be a developer of true citizens, he said, and he urged the students to "give back to McGill just a little more faith, love and respect than you put into it." His talk was informal and extemporaneous and he spoke as a true friend to the young men, and maintained the love and respect in which he is held.

"This is the sixth time I have attended a Pep Rally," said Sir Arthur, "and you may wonder that I came here five years ago, almost long enough to be called an old boy. Five years is not such a very long time. When you look on it, but it seems like looking forward to your years at college, but some like it as well as they stay a year or two longer."

Sir Arthur stated Mr. Strachan as saying last night that he came not to preach but to make a speech, and these, said Sir Arthur, were his own sentiments.

He always had a feeling of joy and was happy meeting young men. He was very proud of young men and had a great respect for what they could accomplish. He learned when they could do otherwise, when boys of twenty-one were placed in command of machine-gun batteries, and met a very few years older in charge of regiments. There was also he said, a little of regret in meeting young men. Last week, "Cy" Morris was a healthy young man, representing those many qualities which make true citizenship. He was at it through a week ago, and now the flag of the university is flying at half mast, and we mourn his death. The university was the better for his being there, and it would be a great thing if the same could be said of all students.

Life is worth fighting for, remarked Sir Arthur. He was older than any man in the room, he said, and he had seen the ups and downs of life, and had experienced success and failure. Life is a tremendous road. "You young men before me, with your bright faces and confident hearts, will you live, strive, dare and be true to McGill?" he asked. McGill was here to start the training, it was up to the students afterwards.

"Some of you," he said, "come from weathered faces. That would make a lot of difference, it won't help you here." He mentioned the fact that immigrants were not allowed to work in the college grounds—the professors go to their daily work, but not like to be spoiled by the fact by a big limousine driven by a chauffeur.

There had come to the University to work, some to play. Concerning the American university, he spoke of a Chinese student visiting New Haven who wrote home to his people as follows:—"There is a great big athletic club over here called Yale. When it rains the boys read."

"We encourage you to play," said Sir Arthur, "because we consider it to be the founder duty of every Canadian to have a clean vigorous strong body. It is the foundation of economic efficiency." In previous years physical education requirements were considered unnecessary, but in the light of wisdom, this has been proved otherwise.

"After play," he continued, "we try to teach you how to work. No man has achieved success unless there was honest endeavor." Not so many generations ago Canada was a wilderness, and the progress in agriculture, transportation and manufactures had been due to the hard work of our forefathers. "Let us hope they have left a little of their virility behind them," he exclaimed. We are the workers. Work is natural, the Lord intended us to work. (Continued on Page 2)

A. L. S. MORRIS CANADIAN CLUB PRESIDENT DEAD

Died Yesterday Morning in Western Hospital

POPULAR STUDENT

Colonel Bovey Pays Glowing Tribute to Late Law Undergraduate

Arthur Livingstone Morris, Law '24, President of the McGill Canadian Club died yesterday morning in the Western Hospital from the effects of having swallowed a bone while eating dinner last Friday. He was a B.A. of Bishop's and was only 24 years of age.

The bone which caused death lodged in the throat and caused an abscess. Three operations were performed and as a last resort, transfusion of blood was effected, but failed to save the popular student's life.

Sir Arthur Currie reached the hospital just in time to see Morris alive. The bereaved parents, William Morris, Minister of St. Roch, and Mrs. Morris were at the bedside of their only son.

Col. Bovey yesterday paid a tribute to the late law student. He said:

"Morris will be a loss to the University. His readiness to join in any work for the good of McGill, his enthusiasm, and perhaps most of all his open kindly nature will be forgotten by none of us. He was one of those who seek very little for themselves but without any conscious effort the friendship of all who knew them." The deceased student had an active student career at McGill. He had been class secretary-treasurer and interclass hockey manager. Last term he was vice-president of the Canadian Club and was to have occupied the presidency of that club for the coming year. He was a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

McGILL VIEWS WILL BE SHOWN IN NEW ZEALAND

College Buildings to be Artfully Demolished

MINIATURE WEMBLEY

Rugby Team, to be Shown in Action

McGill University and winter sports in and around Montreal will be presented at an exhibition which is being placed in a short while in Dunedin, New Zealand, by means of a cinematograph which was sent down by the university during the month of September. This exhibition is in the nature of the British Empire Exhibition or a miniature Wembley and will include displays from all parts of the Empire.

The McGill Exhibition which was recently awarded a medal at the Wembley Exhibition will not be displayed in its entirety but the cinematograph was sent down by the university during the month of September. This exhibition is in the nature of the British Empire Exhibition or a miniature Wembley and will include displays from all parts of the Empire.

Enough views of McGill will be presented to enable the New Zealanders to gain a comprehensive knowledge of the university buildings and surrounding grounds of each of the faculty buildings, including the Arts Building, will be flashed while the new Pathological Building, one of the finest of its kind in the world will be displayed in detail. Pictures of the interior and of some of the larger laboratories of this building will be presented. The Redpath Library will be shown both from the outside and from the inside. A slide of the large reading room showing the famous east window is in the collection. The architectural museum of the Macdonald Engineering Building forms one of the views.

McGill students will also come in to the picture when they are shown

SEVERAL CHANGES IN R. V. C. STAFF

Miss MacLaren in Charge of New Annex

With the opening of the new college season several changes have been observed in the staff of the R. V. C. Miss Hurlbatt, who spent last year on leave of absence in Europe, has resumed her duties as Warden, and is heartily welcomed back by all.

The French department of the university has been very fortunate this year in securing the services of Miss Benoit, the new resident French instructor, who arrived from Paris last week.

Miss Murray, who was a prominent member of the graduating class of 1924, has returned to pursue the course of study leading to an M. A. degree. She is filling the place on the resident staff formerly occupied by Miss Foster who received that degree last spring. Miss Murray is best remembered as the president of the Undergraduate Society during the session 1923-24, although she was also active in other societies.

PUSH-BALL RUSH BETWEEN YEARS

Freshmen and Sophomores Battle This Morning

The hour set for all freshmen and sophomores to be gathered at the stadium ready to go into the push-ball contest in ten-thirty. Track men have been advised by Coach Van Wagner not to participate, but every member of the first two years is expected to be on hand to do battle when the signal is given. A large new push-ball has been given to McGill and will be used for the first time this morning.

From the warriors of the morning will be picked two teams to strive for supremacy in another push-ball contest at half-time of the Old Boys' game.

It is understood that all Freshmen will wear their green hats as a token of distinction.

THUNDERING THOUSAND TO PRACTICE IN UNION

The first football practice of the season will be held in the hall of the Union on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. This meeting will be the only opportunity for freshmen to practice the McGill yell and songs before the R. M. C. game on Saturday.

Important members of the sophomore year, when approached by a "Daily" reporter, expressed the hope that the dramatic means last year to bring freshmen out to the R.M.C. Club practice would not be necessary this year. Your reporter however was unable to learn just what plans had been made to bring out the freshmen.

In order to make the meeting more interesting Rugby Devils has consented to play the piano for the singing at work in a dental clinic. There are also views of the Macdonald College and grounds, the Redpath Museum and the Royal Victoria Hospital.

MISS HURLBATT HAS RETURNED TO UNIVERSITY

R.V.C. Warden Welcomed After Extended Holiday

YEAR ABROAD

Renews Many Old Friendships in England, France and Italy

"After thirty-two years of absence, I have returned to McGill—I was very glad of the opportunity to travel in Europe, kindly granted by the university," said Miss Ethel Hurlbatt when interviewed yesterday at the Royal Victoria College. "Going directly to Paris I remained there till after Christmas," continued the Warden while there I renewed intercourse with an old friend of McGill, Madame Puchet, who as Madeleine, Milieu, was the first resident lecturer of Royal Victoria College and also with other old friends for example Madame Duckworth, the former director of the Pasteur Institute who is well known as an authoress, of the life of Victor Hugo and as a poetess by her maiden name Mary Robinson.

Paris in autumn and winter is different from Paris in July and August usually seen by the traveller and tourist—it is easier to penetrate to the true life of Paris and to enjoy intimately its peerless art collections, modern galleries, studios, and to have something like personal intercourse with Parisians the most untiring, intellectual workers of the world. Indeed "Le Travail Involontaire" seems to be written in capital letters across the whole of French life also that other phrase "Il n'y a point de plus grand bonheur que d'aimer son métier". These are two great traditions which have made France a great nation and which still dominate her national life and will bring her through her present financial difficulties so cruelly imposed by the partial cessation of her labours diverted to the defence of her soil.

From Paris I journeyed to Nice for sunshine and remained there five weeks enjoying the mountains and sea the mountains being the special charm. There is not much opportunity to study French life in the Riviera as the hotels are filled with foreigners while here however I met many charming French and Belgian people and enjoyed some very beautiful music, one of the guests being a distinguished Belgian song composer, Madame Dupuy.

After leaving France I went to Italy and in the hope of finding spring sunshine went on to Florence and Rome and taken in that order lost the peace and beauty of much loveliness as Pisa and Florence have in offer should be pointed by the unqualified and dominant majesty of Rome.

I was drawn to Rome partly by a desire to meet again an old friend Mrs. Arthur Strong, a great student and writer on the subject of classical antiquities, whose sound and original work on Roman sculpture is one of the best contributions she could have on a visit to Rome. Mrs. Strong who has just resigned her position held for years as vice-director of the British School of Archaeology in Rome has been invited to lecture throughout Canada and it is not impossible she may do so either this or next year. There are few people better able than Mrs. Strong to convey a vivid sense of the world's indebtedness to Rome in all these things which make up our civilization, government, family life, including the recreative arts and above all religion.

Although the foreign exchange is extremely low there seems to be great signs of Italian life. Industries are active, building at least in the cities visited seems to be progressing with great speed. The land outside each of the ancient gates of Rome which have hitherto opened into an almost untouched "campagna" is the scene of building activities, large suburbs even garden cities being in progress. In all these things which make up our civilization, government, family life, including the recreative arts and above all religion.

The Old Scout Club extends a hearty welcome to all Scouts past or present, who are undergraduates to come and have a Scout evening. The meeting will take place in Room A, Strathcona Hall, and will commence at 6 p.m. A nominal fee will be charged for the supper. All those interested please phone UP. 2392—P. Matthews 68 McTavish St.

ANOTHER CHANCE FOR REGISTRATION

Period of Revision Opens October 8

McGill students desiring to vote in the coming federal elections will have another chance to get on the lists when the revision period opens, October 8. One of the purposes of the period of revision is to enable those who could not register previously to do so.

The Students' Council had sought information from the Chief Electoral Officer at Ottawa regarding the status in Montreal electoral districts of undergraduates who come to McGill from outside points. In replying to this request, no specific ruling could be given. Mr. Biggar, Chief Electoral Officer, stating, "I have no power to give any direction as to the qualification of any particular class of possible voters such as university undergraduates."

S. C. A. GOES TO POINTE CLAIRE

Secretary of Movement in Canada to be Present

Among those who will be present at the Settlement-up Conference of the McGill Student Christian Association at Pointe Claire tomorrow are H. R. R. Nichol a graduate of McGill and Miss Gertrude Rutherford associate secretary of the Students Christian movement of Canada.

The men will go out to Cedar park by the 8:25 C. P. R. train and will spend the day at the Convent Club. A thorough understanding of the aims of the Student Christian Association and its relation to the National Movement in Canada will be the object of those who attend.

A joint service will be held in the evening at the Pointe Claire Church. The speaker will be Mr. C. E. Amour, the secretary of the local association. All those who wish to attend are urged to leave their names at Strathcona Hall by noon today and in bringing their lunch with them tomorrow. The return train leaves Cedar Park at 6:45 p.m.

OLD SCOUTS CLUB TO HEAR H. T. RAVENHILL

H. T. Ravenhill of Victoria, B. C., will lecture Tuesday next Oct. 6, at the opening meeting of the Old Scouts Club. Mr. Ravenhill is a noted scout, and is just returning from England, where he spent all summer studying Scout Activities. Amongst other things Mr. Ravenhill has attended Gilwell and has participated in a 1,600 mile bicycle hike through the British Isles, and is sure to have something interesting to tell. Continuing the practice of former years, the meeting will take the form of an informal supper followed by round the table Scout talks.

The Old Scout Club extends a hearty welcome to all Scouts past or present, who are undergraduates to come and have a Scout evening. The meeting will take place in Room A, Strathcona Hall, and will commence at 6 p.m. A nominal fee will be charged for the supper.

All those interested please phone UP. 2392—P. Matthews 68 McTavish St.

LARGE CROWD JOIN HEARTILY IN ENTHUSIASTIC PEP RALLY HELD LAST NIGHT IN UNION

Prof. Thompson Gives Sage Advice—Welcome of Basil MacLean—Well-rendered Yells—Addresses by Athletic Coaches—Humorous Stories by Jimmy Rice—Free Smokes—Sir Arthur's Magnificent Speech

Every seat in the large Union Hall was filled with enthusiastic students, and a great deal of floor space was taken up, at the grand Pep Rally, which took place yesterday evening. The freshmen classes were well represented, and everybody applauded and yelled with a zest undiminished by any previous rally. The applause which followed each number was as well deserved as it was given, the men listening with delight to the clashing harmony of Fred's Glee orchestra, the fine remarks of Prof. Thompson, the hearty welcome of Basil MacLean, the brilliant chorusing by Jack Duckworth, the addresses by the athletic coaches, and best of all the magnificent words of Principal Sir Arthur Currie. Not after half of five o'clock were passed, round to the happy hour, and the rally assembled.

The popular first "College" was the star piece played by Fred's Glee orchestra. Every number met with shouts of applause. At half-past eight, the students gave a thrilling welcome to Sir Arthur Currie, Colonel Bovey, Prof. Thompson and William Abey, secretary of the Union. Abey, who acted as chairman, called upon Prof. R. R. Thompson who made the students a hearty welcome. In his capacity as Professor and as head of the McGill C.O.C. He spoke forcefully about the great reputation that McGill enjoyed in the most learned circles of the world. He said that in his visits to Oxford and Cambridge, he had heard McGill spoken of where many other colleges which held themselves to be of great account were not mentioned. He exhorted the first year students to enhance the value of their university, and that this could be done in the following manner—first, and foremost, to work steadily, to take part in outdoor sports in moderation, third to play the game as true British sportsmen, and finally, to take an active part in the class and club affairs, and not to leave the responsibility entirely in the hands of the few—procedure which he had noticed had been followed by previous years.

Amidst loud cheers, Basil MacLean, President of the Students' Society, walked to the platform. He paid a great tribute to the late "Cy" Morris, President of the Canadian Club, mentioning that he was an ideal type of student, and a great sportsman. He then turned to the first year class, and told them that at McGill university, the "rah rah" type of student was not wanted and would not be tolerated. The coach went on to say that he wanted every man in the University, out backing the team. The gates of the stadium would not be closed this year as they have been in previous years, and he hoped that the students would move up to the stadium sooner and see the work-outs. Whether McGill was to win the championship or not depended on the spirit that the students showed. Noble Philpotts, captain of this year's squad, expressed the same sentiments and hoped that the men would turn out and encourage the squad.

Colonel Bovey, who was the last speaker of the evening, stressed the importance of every man getting out, and proclaiming that he was proud of his university. He said that every man should feel that his own university was the best in the world, and he wouldn't give five cents for the man who didn't. He touched on the growth of McGill since the time he first knew it, and showed what gigantic strides the University has made in such a short time.

After the rally there was a demonstration of the new dial system on the telephone, which should prove helpful in future as there doesn't seem to be many as yet who are able to get results on these wonderful mechanicals.

RILE ASSOCIATION BEGIN ACTIVITIES

Meeting Yesterday at Union

The McGill Rifle Association met in the Union yesterday at five o'clock to discuss club business and lay plans for the coming year. Owing to the fact that the Points-aux-Trembles Range will not be available the first practice of the season, scheduled for next Sunday was indefinitely postponed.

The management is desirous of having as large a turnout as possible, at the next meeting, which will be held next Saturday, at Queen's University, McGill's strongest rival in the intercollegiate shoot, numbers two Blakey men among her competitors.

Everyone who turns out at the next meeting will be given a chance to shoot as any number of competitors may enter from each University, the eight highest only being classed as the team representative of their university.

In the intercollegiate competition, the ranges are 200, 300 and 600 yards; thus anyone who has done any rifle shooting before will be given a chance at his own distance. The date of next week's meeting will be given in the "Daily" Notices.

"I'd like to be a conductor." "Why?" "The other day I heard a girl say she adored Caruso."

MONTREAL, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1925.

THIS MORNING'S RUSH

Dalhousie University, we are glad to note, is the latest Canadian university to substitute an organized Freshman Rush for the fighting and hazing of former years, which made the student's first year at college a period of anxiety and misery, certainly not calculated to help the freshman settle into the routine of university life. This ruling has been passed by the Students' Council and officers of both first and second years have agreed to obey it.

McGill last year substituted an organized rush for hazing and it is likely to become a permanent affair here. What Freshman Rules there are must be approved by the Council.

The Freshman-Sophomore Rush takes place this morning in the stadium, and the second year men are reminded that they have quite as much responsibility in this affair as the first year students. Last year, apparently, the second year men considered that the push-hall contest was organized solely for the purpose of making the freshmen sweat, and that they fulfilled their obligations by staying on the sidelines and cheering on those of their associates who were not so fearful of ruining their clothes or of acting beneath the dignity of second year students. The result was that the sophomores were greatly outnumbered and consequently defeated.

While a sophomore defeat does not greatly matter, nevertheless inertia and lack of sportsmanship on the part of the second year is not calculated to set a very good example of college spirit to the freshmen. The first year students gain their impressions of the way a university man should act from observation of the men of the upper years. Consequently it behooves the sophomores to turn out in full force to-day.

AYLMER LIVINGSTONE MORRIS

Aylmer Livingstone Morris, at the opening of an active year as President of the university's Canadian Club, is dead, and the undergraduates of McGill, amidst the hurry and rush of the first days of a new term, pause a moment to sorrow at the passing of one of the most popular of their fellow-students. He had played his part well in the undergraduate life of McGill. In the words of Colonel Bovey, "He was one of those who seek very little for themselves yet win without any conscious effort the friendship of all who know them."

CONDENSED COMMENT

Lectures have been cancelled this morning in order that all undergraduates may attend the Freshman-Sophomore track meet. Consequently there should be little excuse for anything but a full turnout of spectators at the stadium.

As well as being able to see the senior rugby squad in action for the first time this season, undergraduates will have an opportunity in the afternoon of watching men who made football history in the Red and White uniforms of McGill playing once more. Though no title is at stake, the contest will be as full of interest and of colour for McGill students as many inter-collegiate encounters.

TRUE LOVE'S COURSE

The mentioned couple were walking slowly the other day together for a moment, and then the boy spoke. "What's the matter with you?"

"I don't know," he replied. "I feel like I've been hurt."

"Hurt?" she repeated. "Hurt how?"

"Hurt like I've been hurt," he replied. "I feel like I've been hurt."

MISS HURLBATT HAS RETURNED TO UNIVERSITY

speech and freedom of the press in spite of the present Fascist efforts to suppress them.

From Rome to Oxford full as ever of young people hurrying to lectures or to the river and playing fields. Perhaps nowhere else is he so better understood of combining hard work and leisure. At the beginning of each of the three eight weeks terms of the session students hurry to settle down to work and at once begin their systematic plan of afternoon exercise. They certainly work and play at a great pace then at the end of eight weeks there is a holiday and through part of each vacation is spent in study by all who have any ambition to do well they begin a second and a third time each year with renewed vigor that vigorous life of mental exertion and whatever their liberty and freedom to live in their own way, no recognized activities not even dances begin later than 11 P.M.

One of the greatest of sports which cannot be pursued in the lovely river valley during the session is now claiming the allegiance at least of the women students of Sonerville College. The vice principal who is a sister of General Bruce who organized the Mount Everest expeditions to the her brother, a keen mountain climber and at least twelve students were planning to go with her for their expedition on the Swiss Alps during the summer.

for yourselves. Train yourselves to think about the subjects." He quoted Huxley as saying "It doesn't make much of a man to be a Christian, but it takes all there is of him."

"Be tender in your thoughts of McGill as a repository of great and illustrious men," concluded Sir Arthur, "Keep your humility in this world of egotism. Never lose your hope. Before you is a world of promise. Be honest, assiduous, and above all hopeful—Give back to McGill just a little more faith and love and courage than what you put into it."

Colonel Bovey, later on in the meeting paid a very glowing tribute to Sir Arthur Currie, an opinion which was heartily seconded by all present.

It is expected that all students interested in social problems will endeavour to attend this meeting of the Club as new officers are to be elected and the general policy of the club determined.

Drs. Dawson and Gettys will be present and will give brief addresses.

SOCIOLOGICAL CLUB MEETS ON TUESDAY

All sociological students and others interested will meet in the S.C.A. Room of Strathcona Hall on Tuesday evening for the purpose of discussing the constitution of the new McGill Sociological Club.

The Club held its initial meeting last spring at which temporary officers were elected who were commissioned to draw up a constitution during the summer. Such a constitution has been prepared and will be submitted Tuesday evening.

It is expected that all students interested in social problems will endeavour to attend this meeting of the Club as new officers are to be elected and the general policy of the club determined.

Drs. Dawson and Gettys will be present and will give brief addresses.

EVENTS LEADING UP TO THE TRAGEDY

Monday, makes resolution to study tomorrow.

Tuesday, goes to sleep over text-book. Besides to wait until next day.

Wednesday, gets into all-night poker session. Despondent, studying again.

Thursday, is set up to a movie. Despondent to carry out his intention before week is over.

Friday, goes riding with the game in a rented driver. Tells the world that week-end is best time to "ground" anyhow.

Saturday, decides to celebrate end of week.

Sunday, repeated with variations until final exams.

Guess the rest.

NOTICE

As Mr. Fortune, the Vice-President of the McGill Union, and Mr. Cameron, the Cheer Leader, will not be at McGill for the Session of 1925-26, it is necessary to hold elections for these positions.

Nominations for these offices are herewith called for.

These nominations must be in writing, and signed by at least twenty-five undergraduates of the University.

Nominations must be in the hands of the Secretary of the Students' Council by 6.00 p.m., Monday, October 11th, 1925.

Elections will be held on Thursday, October Fifteenth, at the McGill Union.

G. H. Fletcher
Secretary.

Dear Bob—A short time ago I met a pretty girl with lots of money. I was engaged to her and I just discovered that she had a glass eye. Shall I break it?

REPORTERS WANTED.

Reporters are wanted on the Daily, and all interested are asked to apply at the office in the basement of the Union between one and two o'clock each day, until further notice. This invitation is extended especially to freshmen, but the Managing Board will be glad to hear from men in other years. It is hoped also that those who have been connected with the paper already will resume their duties immediately.

E. D. MacLeod, the managing editor, will receive all applications and newcomers will be given an immediate chance to make a place on the staff.

HORSE'S NECK

She was the third one, And I loved her. Her face was so intelligent, so strong-featured, her form was so perfect, so ideal; her ankles so trim and dainty. People often remarked, as she walked with me, how queenly was her bearing, how majestically her glorious head rose from her gracefully arched neck. And when I put my arm about her, and her head nestled confidently on my shoulder, her warm cheek close to mine, and her silky brown hair waving into my face, then I seemed to feel that here was the one who understood me, who would ever be faithful and true to me.

But alas for my love and my hopes. She was just like the other. For, when I tried to use the whip on her, the Angora horse threw me clear over her head into the bushes.

COLLEGE TENNIS MEET ON MONDAY

Many Entries in and Entrants Practicing Hard

What promise to be the most closely fought tennis tournament in some years will make its start on Monday, when the contest for the Vanchoy Cup, emblematic of the tennis championship of McGill University, will be fought. The tournament is open to all McGill tennis enthusiasts.

While Jack Wright, the present title holder is naturally favoured to retain the trophy, yet great competition is expected from a number of rising stars in the field to reach the finals. Among the latter are Wayland, Abbott, and Desmarais. Charlie Leslie of last year's Intercollegiate team is expected to give Wright a great fight. In last year's semi-finals the former gave Bill Chabot a terrible battle in which he came near defeating the champion of Canada. Stan Perry, also of Intercollegiate fame, is favoured to be well up in the tournament.

Judging from the number of players practising on the courts from noon until the darkness forces a halt, there will be a record entry in this year's tournament. All entries must be in tomorrow together with a fee of fifty cents. Pairings for the first day will most likely be announced in Monday morning's Daily.

ARTS SOPHS. ELECT D. SMITH PRESIDENT

Don Smith was unanimously re-elected President of Arts 24 for the coming session. J. P. Diplock was elected for the office of secretary, and Bert Alexander for treasurer.

C. H. Peters will hold the office of Daily Reporter for the class with Gordie Reed as Athletic manager.

A rushing committee to look after the Freshman was elected, to consist of Desmond Walsh, A. C. Lyons, R. DuBoise and J. G. Reed.

COMPLAINT OF A WILD BOY

My soul is lost,
What can I do?
Celestially
I fear I'm through.

I've played at bridge
And I seed a girl.
I've sipped of wine.
My head's a whirl.

I've smoked and lied.
Yea—even sworn.
The Devil's locked
My moral door.

I wish that I
Had never been Corrupted so
By all this sin.

At home I was
A perfect boy.
Beloved by all—
My mother's joy.

In one short term
I've gone to seed.
Committed many
A dark deed.

But I don't care—
I'm getting rough.
It's rather fun
To be so tough.

Don't tell a soul.
This very night
I'm going to get
Most awfully tight.

I've found a cork.
I'll take a sniff.
By morning I'll be
Laid out stiff!

My soul is lost.
What do I care?
Celestially
I fear I'm through.

Isn't it funny that it is often the woman we know for the shortest time that we remember the longest?

A clay pipe has been found to be the handiest for all-round use. One convenient feature is that when you drop it, you never have to pick it up.

Oh! Judging from where you sat at the beauty contest you must have seen some sights.

Oh, no, I wasn't judging.

VISITING HARRIERS TO COMPETE HERE

Local Men Practising Hard in Preparation for Intercollegiate Meet

The Intercollegiate Harrier Meet will be held in Montreal on October 31st, when teams from Toronto, Queen's and Royal Military College will oppose the Red and White runners. In all probability, the race will be held in the afternoon, and at such time that the men will finish during the half-time period of the English Rugby football game.

In the twelve Harrier meets held since the formation of the Harrier Union, the team wearing the colours of Toronto has won nine times, while R. M. C. has one victory, that of last year, to their credit. McGill won in 1910, and again in 1919, as the Mounties are seven points behind their Ontario rivals.

This year, McGill is determined to win on its own course, and many men have been training faithfully. Several of the stars of last year are working out with the track team, but such men as Goforth, Rubing, Ains, Brodie and Burgess have expressed their intention of running with the Harriers as soon as the track season ends.

Among these candidates for the team who have started work on the mountain already are Gray-Donald, Shearwood, Egerton, and Capt. Thompson of the Ski Club. Many others are intending to turn out at the beginning of next week. Ketchum, MacDonald and Scott being among the number.

Races are being held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at five o'clock when the captain or the manager takes newcomers over the course. Yesterday several men did the long stretch of almost six miles while others completed themselves with the shorter four-mile route.

Many of the men working out with the Harriers are preparing for winter sports at track work next year. Every man interested in long-distance running is requested to join the team as soon as possible as the intercollegiate meet is only three weeks away.

Master's girl just because she expects you to be just like scratching a place that doesn't itch.

LOGAN PRESIDENT SENIOR YEAR ARTS

Dave Logan was elected president of the Arts seniors in the class elections to-day, which were featured by extremely close voting. Logan had a majority of one over Lidstone. Herb Murphy is vice-president, having beaten Alan Macdonald also by one vote. S. A. Macdonald won in the election for secretary-treasurer, with a plurality of two over Swift and Lidstone.

Now's the time when a prof's looks and name counts for a whole lot.
